1. AUTOGRILL VILLORESI EST

Project Overview

Villoresi East is located on Milano – Laghi Highway, along a segment, with a flow of about 30 million vehicles per year, that is one of the busiest in Italy.

Designed by Giulio Ceppi, the structure emerges in the form of an "asymmetrical conoid" in a phased manner from the territory up to a height of 27.5 m. At the same time plunges not only visually in it, through a system of 420 geothermal probes that reach a depth of 25 meters and develop a thermal cooling capacity of approximately 380kw.

The place is so small (and so successful) that the owners are already working on the opening of a new Temakinho in Brera. The actual one, on the Navigli, is the first temakeria opened in Milan. Temakeria, aka a contamination between Japanese sushi and Brazilian flavour. The perfect place to drink the strongest caipirinhas in Milan.
