Project Description

Garde took on the challenge of creating a single work environment to bring together multiple brands with different identities and characteristics. This meant avoiding the temptation to express each brand individually and rather focus on elements that unite and reinforce the historical growth of the adidas group brand. Garde focused on 4 overarching concepts to drive the project design and create the ideal work environment:

•Leverage the history and legacy of the adidas group brand to build a deeper understanding with consumers and staff and reinforce a one team culture

•Seamlessly integrate sports and work to create a unique environment that reflects the values of adidas Group
