Location map

Located in the heart of Bangkok's central business district near BTS sky train station Ploenchit, Park Hyatt Bangkok occupies the top floors of Central Embassy shopping mall, a curvilinear, twisted-coil structure where the floor plan forms a figure of eight.

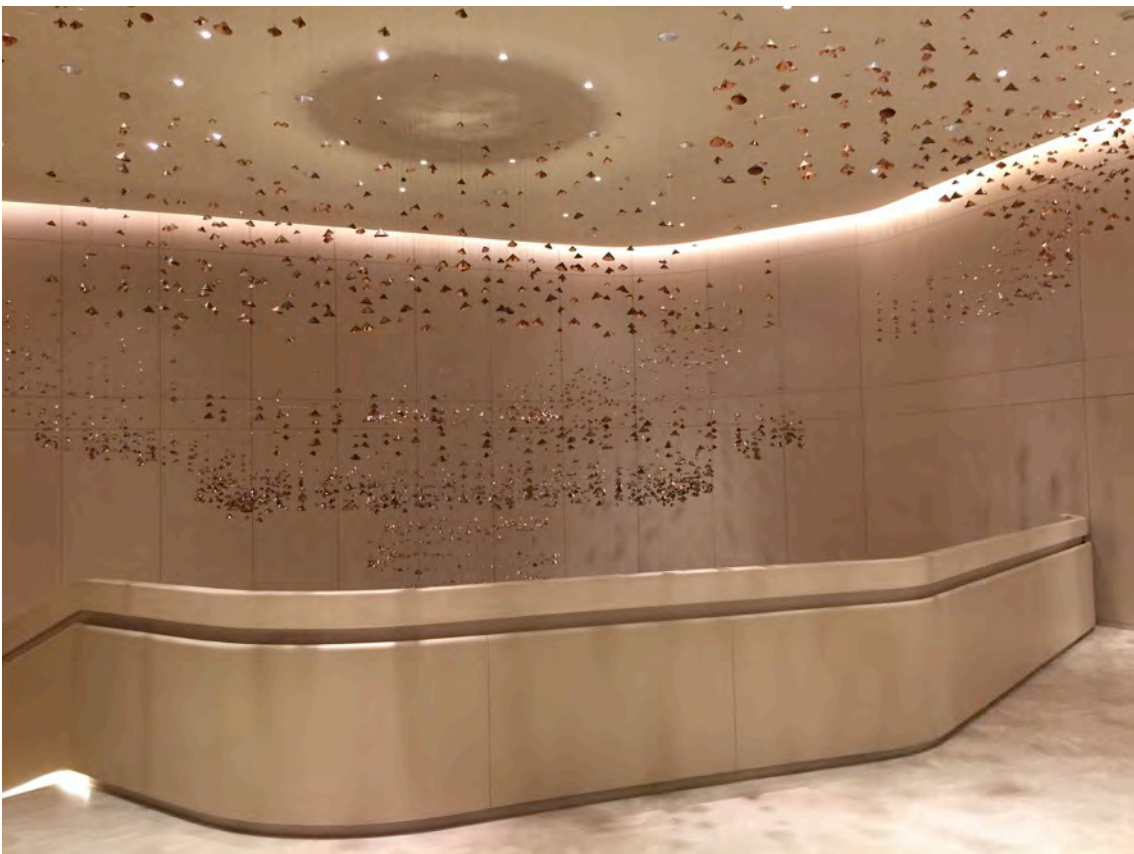

Hotel lobby.

Like other Park Hyatt properties around the world, this one is as much an art gallery as it is a luxury hotel.

By the staircase leading to the ballroom, there is a beautiful abstract installation by Hiroshi Sawada; composed of small copper swirls dangling from the ceiling, it resembles a Thai pagoda.

Sleek lines, smooth curves, and stunning art everywhere.

Scholar Rock by Zhang Wang on the lobby floor.

Lighting effects set the mood ambiance in the grand ballroom.

Private meeting room.

The stylish interiors have been designed to embody 'livable luxury', featuring a backdrop of calming natural materials punctuated with timeless Thai accents.

Executive Suite. The luxurious bathrooms have been conceived as a private spa, and feature a separate soaking bathtub and rain shower; an illuminated make-up mirror; and bathroom amenities by New York brand Le Labo.
